News From the Hideout

Mrs. H. Longdyke returned to her Birmingham home recently after spending several delightful days at her Hideout on Big Creek. While in seclusion, daughter Joanne and her fiancé, Harold Cox, visited the lady in the Hideout for a few days. Mrs. L. entertained at a cocktail session one day, and among guests were her fine neighbors and friends of long standing, Carl and Mabel Warrick. Late one evening Louise was lying on her porch watching the stars and listening to the ripple of the AuSable, when out of thin air came the blast of a horn and a flood of lights searing Louise back to earth. A little frightened, she listened and to her delight recognized the voice of her dear friend Ruth Robinson, who entered the cabin followed by Mr. Longdyke. After exchanging greetings and adjusting herself to this great surprise, Louise still had in store another surprise as none other than Bill Robinson entered the Hideout. Mrs. L. does not know which one of the trio planned this surprise attack but it sure was carried out professionally. Merry-making went on until the wee hours, and as noon approached the next day the boys had to leave and return to the rat race, Bill to his Webash call and Harold to his lock picking. Ruth stayed on with Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnell Thomas and their children from Pontiac were the occupants of the Hideout last week. Donnell has a beauty salon at the Pontiac Mall. Joanne Longdyke is a beautician there. This is Donnell's first experience in the North Woods. The Longdykes will be patiently awaiting his comments. So much for the hideout where time passes on but stands still.

Beaver Creek Ripples

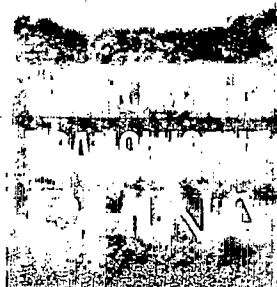

Helen Brown and Mary Dutton did some research in the Avalanche files last week and discovered that the first Old Timers Picnic was held at the Beaver Creek Town Hall on Labor Day 1928. In those days it was called the Beaver Creek Farmers' Picnic. The officers that year were president, George Annis; secretary, John LaMotte and treasurer, Cris King. According to the report a tug of war and races were held. In the evening dancing was enjoyed, the music being furnished by George Annis on the violin and an accompanist, not named.

Therefore this year's picnic is the 35th annual. It will again be held at the Beaver Creek Town Hall. Officers this year are: Leo Roy Millikin, chairman; Andie Neilsen, co-chairman; Helen Brown, secretary and Betty Hawley, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown moved into their new home on the Military Road earlier this month. On the 16th, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brown joined them for cake and coffee in celebration of little Randy Brown's fourth birthday.

Plans are under way in Crawford County for Michigan's Democratic Women's Day, a state-wide Democratic Party undertaking, scheduled for Saturday, September 14, at Michigan State University in East Lansing, Michigan.

Activities will take place in the MSU Student Union, commencing with registration at 9:00 A.M. Formal sessions will open at 10:00 A.M. with the morning program devoted to a discussion of Michigan's fiscal problems. The afternoon session, following a noon luncheon, will consider national affairs.

Michigan's own Margaret Price, vice-chairman of the Democratic Party National Committee, will be featured speaker at the luncheon. Mrs. Price will keynote the afternoon discussion, speaking on "Operation Support", the Democratic campaign in support of President Kennedy's program for the nation.

Other prominent Michigan Democratic leaders expected to participate in the day's program include Congressman-at-Large Neil Stabler, who will be present with his wife, former Governor John Swanson, and U. S. Senator Philip A. Hart.

Little League . . . An Asset

With the successful conclusion of the first year of Little League competition in Grayling, it is only proper to take a look at the effort put forth by many people. The League officers, team managers and coaches, those who aided in developing a fine field and, of course, the youngsters who played, all deserve a great deal of credit for coming up with a fine program.

This effort by the many, brought a real community investment . . . and investment in youth which is the greatest natural asset any nation may possess. To give people an idea of what this league means, following is the Little League Pledge . . . "I trust in God . . . I love my country and will respect its laws . . . I will play fair and strive to win . . . But win or lose, I will always do my best."

The wholesome aspects of learning a good sport in the out of doors and learning to work with other youngsters is a lesson which every boy in our country needs. In equal chance is given to every boy who tries out for Little League play . . . a boy stands or falls on his own merits. This too is a lesson we all must learn before entering adult life.

As former President Herbert Hoover once stated, "The strength of a nation rests in the character of her men. And character comes from boyhood. Thus every boy is a challenge to his elders . . . For the world of tomorrow which all of us are dreaming and planning will be carried forward by the boys of today."

Congratulations are in order from all of us to those who made play in the Little League possible in Grayling this year and to the Moose Lodge who originally sponsored the idea the year before. Our Town will be a better place to live because of this effort. R. W. S.
